An obvious and complete attempt at creating a chandelier that is modern, playful and edgy resulted in the Manhattan pendant, an aesthetic reinterpretation of the classic chandelier. At the same time, the two-dimensional shape provides visual volume and a playful lightness. A powerful contrast is created between the masculine, stringent pipes and the feminine, soft shapes around the socket. The fine brass transitions between pipes and lamp heads on the pendant allow you to turn and tilt each lamp head 36°, whereby the lamp can be transformed to have very different expressions. Furthermore, the E27 sockets allows for light
